Pikimov is a free web alternative to CapCut and Adobe After Effects

Years ago, I used to develop VJ softwares (to mix clubbing live visuals) for unexpected platforms such as the Playstation 2 or the Raspberry Pi. In 2024, I was back with a new creative app for motions designers.

As a creative developer working daily on a Linux machine, I often found myself in need of an After Effects alternative, with compositions, layers, keyframes, masks... so I ended up creating Pikimov on which I worked during my free time, as a side project. It's a free online motion design & video editor that runs directly in web browsers, on all systems: Windows, macOS and Linux.

To start using Pikimov, simply visit https://pikimov.com on a web browser and click on 'New Project', voilà!
No installation setup, no sign-up, no paywall, jump right into your first video composition. Users familiar with CapCut or Adobe After Effect will find themselves comfortable: the key concepts are identical: compositions, layers, keyframes, easing curves, filters…

The latest update: Pikimov V5, adds a new classic editor, very easy to handle, to be used for simple video editing jobs, making Pikimov an Alternative to both After Effects and CapCut.
